Jack Holmes

UIX Designer & Web Developer

Introduction 👋

As an 18-year-old student, I am proficient in user experience design and am gaining experience in web development both inside and outside of school. My passion for technology began at age 9 when I received my first laptop and has continued to grow as I constantly strive to acquire new skills that will be useful to me in the future.

Experiences

I have extensive experience creating projects catering to the teenage audiences, particularly in the gaming industry. My responsibilities include managing the project team and finances, promoting the project, and sometimes developing websites for the projects. I will provide an overview of some of the projects I own and currently manage to demonstrate my success and expertise in this field.

In web development, my proficiency lies in using HTML5 and CSS/SCSS. I have also gained experience utilizing technologies like Prisma, SvelteKit and SolidJS in larger projects that require more advanced solutions.

Projects

tweakcentral.net

At Tweak Central, we develop simple, one-click optimization applications to enhance performance on lower-end systems via registry keys. It was my first project and continues to be a passion of mine.

Management - Marketing - System Administration

atlasos.net

At Atlas, we offer a modified version of Windows, tailored specifically for gamers with the goal of achieving higher performance and reducing latency. Our open-source modification is community-driven and fully transparent.

Management - Marketing - System Administration - Development - Social Media

eclean.gg

Eclean is an all-in-one solution for optimizing and tweaking Windows settings, cleaning your computer, uninstalling applications, and managing running programs. It is yet to be released but takes advantage of the latest technologies.

Management - Marketing - Social Media

Contact

✉ jackholmes@onmail.com

🌐 imjack.me

🏠 England, UK